President's Message

Joseph Stuckelman, MFA, C-TAGME

I am breathing a sigh of relief today. The ACGME field representatives were here this week for our 10-year site visit. Even though the 3-inch-thick PIF has gone away, the stress involved with a site visit remains. I slept restlessly the night before, afraid that I would slumber through my alarm. Ultimately, I found the visit to be relatively stress free. The focus on continual program review and improvement was evident. After interviews and a site visit, I feel like a weight has been lifted off my shoulders...just in time to finalize arrangements for the AUR 67th Annual Meeting.

This is the APCR pre-AUR newsletter! The AUR Annual Meeting is less than 2 months away. We hope that you have registered and made your travel plans. We have planned an exciting program. Janet Palmer highlights all the APCR sessions and activities on the next page. The APCR mobile meeting app will be back for this year's meeting. Look for the release in late March.

The annual cycle of academic programs leaves little downtime. It is important to take care of ourselves and our trainee. Kelly Aronson reflects on the first year of the Wellness Committee. And, don't forget to nominate one of your colleagues for the Outstanding Coordinator Award. See the details on page 11. Read on for committee updates, TAGME news, and more.

I'll leave you with this quote, which I find apropos to the role of academic coordinators and administrators: "Organizing is what you do before you do something, so that when you do it, it is not all mixed up."

-A. A. Milne

I hope to see you in Baltimore.

MAKE PLANS TO JOIN US!!

Program Planning Committee

Janet Palmer

I know we are all busy, constantly expected to do more with less and do it faster and better, but I want to encourage you to take time to register for the 2019 AUR Annual Meeting in Baltimore, Maryland (and be sure to book your hotel room).

67th Annual Meeting
Association of University Radiologists
Educating the Future

April 9–12, 2019 | Hilton Baltimore | Baltimore, Maryland

On Monday, April 8th the night before AUR officially begins, the APCR will hold two functions. If possible, make your travel plans so you can attend.

Pre-AUR events:

1. New APCR Member Meet & Greet Monday, April 8th from 5:00-6:00 PM

If you are new to APCR or the AUR meeting, please come and get connected and oriented. You can meet other new coordinators even before the beginning of the AUR annual meeting. You can begin to network with people who not only know what you are going through but who are also going through the same thing. And you can meet and connect with some of the APCR leadership. We look forward to welcoming you! In order to get a headcount, please register here.

2. The APCR Welcome Reception will be held immediately following the New Member Meet & Greet on the evening of Monday, April 8th from 6:00-8:00 PM. Come connect with old friends and make some new ones.

The AUR theme for 2019 is “Educating the Future”. Whether you are just beginning your career or have a lot of experience, we have content planned to provoke and inspire, to improve your future for all points in your career trajectory.

Day 1: Tuesday, April 9th. Kelly Aronson, Chair of the newly formed Wellness Committee returns, this time with a focus on Coordinator Wellness. She teams up with two other APCR members to present: “The Wellness Committee Presents: ‘Back to the Future,’ Take Your Wellness from Zero to Hero”

Day 2: Wednesday, April 10th. Dr. Richard Gunderman from the University of Indiana returns, teaming up with APCR member Katharina Wang from Icahn School of Medicine Mount Sinai to present: “The Future of Coordinator Leadership-Projecting your Role and Influencing Others”

You will want to be sure to come join the fun APCR Member Lunch & Coordinator Competition planned by our Professional Development Committee. We promise an improved competition. Please register here to reserve your seat. No one will be turned away.

Day 3: Come learn from fellow coordinators in our “Best Practices of APCR Membership for Future Success” session. We will here from both residency and fellowship coordinators.

Day 4: In partnership with the Radiology Leadership Institute (RLI), the APCR has planned a session designed specifically for program coordinators and administrators: Dr. Frank Lexa from University of Arizona Medical Center returns teamed up with APCR member LaToya Wright from the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School and her chief resident to bring us: “Facing the Future-Change Management in Radiology.”

Baltimore Inner Harbor

Foundation Course for New Coordinators!

By now some of you may be wondering what happened to the APCR Foundation Course. It isn't gone, just moved. The course is designed for coordinators with 0-2 years' experience. For a variety of reasons, we have moved this course to the final day of AUR, Friday, April 12th, from 10:00am-12:00pm and from 1:00pm-3pm. We hope that this will give you a chance to get lots of questions answered that will occur to you along the way as you attend the APCR sessions throughout the week. This course will require separate registration at NO cost to APCR members. Register here.

You won't want to miss the Joint APDR/APCR sessions including ACGME update, ABR update, Hot Topics, and more.

The APCR meeting app will be back!

Wellness Corner

Kelly Aronson, C-TAGME

Thank You for an Amazing, PGY-1:

The Wellness Committee is not even a year old yet, but you would not think that by all that has been accomplished. At this time, the Wellness Committee would like to thank every member of the APCR for their continued support and for joining us on this journey to help make a difference in our learning environments across the nation. Special thanks to the ACPR, Board of Directors for taking the steps necessary to make this committee and wellness sessions possible.

Reflections:

As a team, we should all be proud to be a part of a society that is focused on building a collaborative culture of wellness across the nation. We are truly a team where every member's voice matters. In less than a year, we have opened the door to conversations that have been long overdue. We have worked diligently within our community to decrease stigma by learning to be mindful of our words while raising awareness about mental health and suicide prevention, as well as, the power of empathic communication. Most importantly, we are a team that truly understands that mental health is just as important as physical health. Using realistic solutions and “out of the box” type thinking, we have built an excellent starting foundation that mixes wellness and business which creates sustainability. The Wellness Committee is not just about coordinators, but about how we can impact everyone within our teams and that makes us unique in comparison to other coordinator wellness teams in the nation. If that was not enough, the Wellness Committee has been attentively working behind the scenes to bring APCR members, the first and personalized, Coordinator Wellness Session which will take place at AUR 2019 (sneak peek below). We believe we are creating something that not only APCR can be proud of, but we are showing others a different side of the coordinator role and how we can and have been contributing within the learning environments (just in time for the ACMGE new requirements effective July 2019, when coordinators are no longer considered “other personnel” but instead, “part of the leadership team”).

Note: For your convenience, past materials can be located on the APCR website (APCR Newsletter, Wellness Corner and presentations from last year's Resident Wellness session at AUR).

Wellness in Learning Environment:

If you have not had a chance to review the ACGME Newsletter by Thomas J Nasca, MD, MACP, please take a moment to read and share the link below with your team.

Coordinator Wellness Session at AUR 2019:

The Wellness Committee Presents: “Back to the Future,” Take Your Wellness from Zero to Hero.

“Extra! Extra! Read all about it...”

We hope to see everyone at AUR and please do not forget to mark your calendar to attend this important session. Why? Because coordinators self-care is important to the job and our lives outside the job. Our wellness matters just as much as anyone else on the team. In creating a true culture of wellness, we need to be mindful of every member of the team and that includes ourselves. Just like the most important patient our residents, fellows and staff physicians will ever encounter, is themselves; accordingly, if we as coordinators are not focused on our own self-care to some degree, this can create undue stressors on our personal lives and our programs.

The Wellness Committee believes in our teammates, knows the value of the work etiquette and dedication it takes to be a coordinator, and knows that we are all heroes in every program that we serve. We recognize, that sometimes it is hard to feel like a hero due to the demands of the job which can leave us feeling mentally and physically exhausted. The Wellness Committee has been listening and want to help our teammates, so that every member of our team feels like the hero he or she is, every single day.

The lineup does not sound like a typical wellness session because it is not a typical wellness session. This session was created specifically with each one of you in mind. Combining wellness and business, we hope that you will find value in the session based on the responses from the post AUR survey of 2018.

Thank you to all the Wellness Committee members for assisting in the creation of this session and the time being dedicated at the event. Special thanks to Alexia Allen from McLaren, Oakland in Michigan for helping with the creation of the main title. Kudos to Janet Palmer, President-Elect, for recognizing the needs of her peers and offer a Coordinator Wellness Session at AUR 2019. Excellent teamwork!

-Kelly Aronson, Wellness Committee, Chair

The Wellness Committee looks forward to seeing everyone at AUR.

Electronic Communications

Joseph Stuckelman, MFA, C-TAGME

The Electronic Communications Committee is currently working on several projects:

- The 2018 APCR mobile meeting app – Yapp – was a huge success! We are currently building the app for the 2019 Annual Meeting. Estimated launch, mid-March.
- The 2018 APCR/AUR mobile meeting app has been archived to create space for the 2019 app. You may notice that it has disappeared from the Yapp icon on your mobile device. Our subscription only allows for one activation at a time.
- LinkedIn – We currently have 134 APCR members who have joined the APCR LinkedIn group called “APCR Radiology Program Coordinators”. Do you have a question that you need answered? Why not start a conversation on the discussion board. To join the private group, search for the group name in LinkedIn: <https://www.linkedin.com/groups/> and request to join the group.
- Google Drive – The APCR document share is housed in Google. Anyone with the link can view and download files. If you have files that you would like to share, please send them to me, and I am happy to upload them.
- Any inquiries regarding APCR electronic resources should be directed to the ECC Chair, Joseph Stuckelman at stuckelmanj@cshs.org

Recruitment is Over – What Now?

Congratulations! You’ve made it through another or your first recruitment season. Rank meetings are over, rank lists are entered and validated. Take a deep breath.

This is a perfect time to do a debriefing with not only for yourself and PD but also with the entire interview team. What did everyone think went well? What could be done differently next season? Just make notes. You’ll return to them prior to next season and they will be a great help to jog everyone’s memory.

Now is the time to review the projects or tasks that took a back seat to all the interview days. You may want to review New Innovations, Med Hub or whichever management system you use, to remind residents, fellows, and faculty to complete evaluations. Check that duty hours are being entered; procedures are being logged; conference attendance is entered.

This is the time of year that the ACGME resident, fellow, and faculty surveys are being opened. Make sure that you have all your trainees entered, and that your faculty roster is accurate. ACGME no longer sends emails to individuals, only to the PD and coordinator. It will be your responsibility to advise them of what is coming and to check WebADS regularly that all the groups are completing the survey. The ACGME has indicated minimum percentage that need to respond.

This is also the time of year that onboarding begins. If you have international medical graduates (IMGs) in your program which are on visas, check the expiration as you’ll need to initiate renewals. Give yourself plenty of time to get these completed. Also, if any of your IMGs are going to be traveling around the time of expiration that you have it noted and consult with your immigration expert, in regard to submission as policies and procedures are always changing. Don’t want to strand your trainee.

Part of onboarding is orientation, whether conducted by your GME office or by your department/program (or both). Contact your GME office to get the date(s). Gather the department stakeholders to agree a dates(s). Maybe consider reserving rooms as necessary. Once you have the dates, you can email your new trainees as it helps in their planning and manages their expectations.

Check in with your GME office on what documents they will need you to collect in order to begin the onboarding process.

Lastly, we are here for you if you need help, want to talk something through. All of us were once new and were very grateful to be able to reach out and have support.

Sincerely,

Your Mentoring Committee

ACGME Surveys

The Interventional Radiology – Integrated ACGME Faculty and Resident survey is open now until February 17, 2019. Be sure to remind your faculty and residents to complete the survey before the deadline!

Faculty and resident surveys for Diagnostic Radiology and Radiology subspecialties will open on March 11, 2019 through April 14, 2019.

Outstanding Coordinator Award

Amanda Easton

It's that time of year when we nominate one of our colleagues to be the "2018 Outstanding Coordinator." This award is nominated and chosen by members of APCR only.

The criteria and nomination form is available on the website. Please return completed nomination forms to me via email (amande@uw.edu) no later than Friday, March 1st.

The nominations are reviewed and voted on by the Awards Committee. Both the names of the APCR member nominated and the member submitting the nomination are kept confidential from the Committee until the selection is final.

The winner will be recognized at the 2019 Annual Meeting in Baltimore, MD

SCARD FELLOWSHIP APPLICATION CHANGES

From the SCARD Site: <http://www.scardweb.org/about/policies>

In response to concerns expressed by multiple stakeholders and after extensive discussions, the Society of Chairs of Academic Radiology Departments (SCARD) has formulated a proposal to modify the current fellowship application and acceptance process in Radiology. Currently, there is no standardization of this process between different sub-specialties and the date that residents have to decide their sub-specialties continues to creep earlier and earlier. We believe this is both unfair to our residents and detrimental for Radiology as a specialty. Our goal is to establish a uniform date for applications, interviews, and acceptances that will allow our residents sufficient time to experience all of Radiology sub-specialties before choosing one for their career. In order to develop a proposal that achieves this objective and addresses concerns of all stakeholders, SCARD formed a subcommittee which included several Chairs and representatives from the major subspecialty societies. This committee met for several months and agreed on the following key points:

1. In order to maintain flexibility, not all sub-specialties will choose to utilize the match.
2. What is critical is maintaining a uniform date (an embargo date) before which no fellowship program in any radiology sub-specialty can offer interviews or acceptances.
 - a. For sub-specialties that use a match, the match achieves this goal.
 - b. For those sub-specialties that choose not to utilize the match there will be an embargo date of December 1 of the third year of residency, before which no program can offer interviews or acceptances.

This proposal was presented at the recent SCARD annual meeting in October 2018. After thorough discussion, this proposal was approved by SCARD and signed by 90 Chairs who attended the meeting. The proposal is also supported by the Society of Skeletal Radiology, The Society of Thoracic Radiology, The American Society of Emergency Radiology, The American Society of Neuroradiology, The Society of Breast Imaging, the Society of Interventional Radiology, and the Society of Abdominal Radiology.

2018 SCARD FELLOWSHIP POLICY

The primary goal of this policy is to establish a uniform date for interviews and acceptances that will allow radiology residents sufficient time to experience all of Radiology sub-specialties before choosing one for their career.

For Match Programs:

Match Programs	Timeline	Important Dates
Interview Embargo Dates	Interviews may begin	December 1
	Interviews completed	March 31
NRMP Dates	Match Day	June 13 (as determined by the NRMP)

For Non Match Programs:

Non Match Programs	Timeline	Important Dates
Interview Embargo Dates	Interviews may begin	December 1
	Interviews completed	March 31
Acceptance Embargo Date	No fellowship may offer acceptances before this date	December 1

1. All fellowship programs – match and non-match must
 - a. Abide by the December 1 embargo date for interviews.
 - i. Exception—internal candidates, international candidates, military candidates, and spouses are excluded from the embargo date timeline
 - b. Stop interviewing by March 31 to avoid conflict with Core Exam studying.
2. Instituted for fellowships beginning July 2021. Therefore interviews will not begin before December 1, 2019 for positions starting in July 2021.
3. Repercussions: Compliance with this initiative will be considered when choosing members for leadership positions in SCARD

CONGRATULATIONS TO RADIOLOGY'S NEWLY CERTIFIED COORDINATORS!

Ann Atiyeh – Beaumont Health

Lori Burlin – Baylor College of Medicine

Nilu Dorschner – University of Arizona

Kimberly Wilson – John T. Mather Memorial Hospital

BIG CHANGES COMING FOR 2019 TAGME CERTIFICATION!

TAGME is partnering with an outside vendor to assist with the administration and delivery of our 2019 Certification Assessment. This exciting shift will:

1. Change the existing assessment from 2-part format to a single 3.5-4 hour computer-based live proctored session for Initial and Maintenance of Certification candidates.
2. Allow TAGME applicants the flexibility to self-schedule a preferred date to complete the assessment within either Session 1 or Session 2 at one of hundreds of U.S. and international test site locations.
3. Give retake candidates opportunity to do so within the same calendar year as the initial attempt.
4. Ensure all assessments are delivered and completed in a consistent, secure testing environment.
5. Expedite the grading and credentialing process.

The TAGME Certification Assessments content will broadly remain the same and focus on requirements, terms and processes related to the ACGME, ECFMG residency and fellowship match formats (NRMP and San Francisco), and other areas of knowledge commonly required for those in a GME program administrator or similar role. Question types may include multiple choice, short answer or matching. Essay questions have been eliminated.

A comprehensive list of the sources and documents to use will be available to candidates and will be allowed in the assessment session. The information contained within resource list, along with your your day-to-day knowledge of GME program management should adequately prepare you to pass the assessment. Sample questions will be available with the resource list. The TAGME-Prep webinar (for qualified applicants) will provide review and discussion of sample questions.

PLEASE NOTE: There is no official study guide or published handbook that TAGME recommends or endorses for certification preparation.

As we work to initiate the new platform, updates and additional information will be added to this page. A sample application, complete instructions to apply, the knowledge content resource list, updated FAQs, and information regarding 2018 assessment retakes will be available soon. Until then, potential applicants are urged to review our Eligibility Requirements for Initial and Maintenance of Certification.

2019 CERTIFICATION SCHEDULE UPDATED – 1/21/19

As development of our new platform to deliver certification assessment continues, the dates for Initial, MOC and Retake assessments have been revised:

Application submission – May 1 through June 15

Application review and notification: Rolling through June 30

Assessment scheduling – Upon application approval

Session 1 Assessment Completion – August 1 through Sept 15

Session 1 Retakes – September 16 through October 15

Session 2 Assessment Completion – October 16 through Nov 30

Session 2 Retakes – December 1 through December 31
